

A Scoping Review of Literature on Sport Coach Education Programs: An International Perspective

Argentina

Coach education in Argentina occurs through programs offered by National Sport Federations and National Schools of Coaches. There is no national accreditation program or Olympic Academy.

These coach education programs are divided from one to four levels of expertise in a traditional perspective (from 1- grassroots to 4- high performance). Pre-requisites for participating in the certification programs are reaching 18 years old and completing secondary school. The programs are offered via online strategies and face to face, including practical sessions and internships. The workload varies according to the level and sport.

Requirements to coach

According to the Sports Law (27202/2015), “coaches should have qualifications recognized by the Ministry of Education or the civil associations of second degree or superior entities of sport.” The superior entities of sports are Sports Federations and National Schools of Coaches.
